Chapter 7

Randall L. Seaver – Trustee

Adv. Proc. No. 16-04018

v.

PAUL HANSMEIER
Padraigin Browne
Defendant

A lawsuit has been started against you. You have been or will be served with a Summons and Complaint. If the plaintiff is successful, or you do not respond in time, you could end up owing money to the plaintiff, even though, if you are a debtor in the related case, you may have received a discharge. You should consult your attorney as soon as possible, unless you wish to represent yourself.

If you are unable to afford an attorney, you may contact:

Volunteer Lawyers Network
Bankruptcy Adversary Proceeding (BAP) Program
(612)752-6677

You will be screened for eligibility and if it is determined that you are eligible, an attorney may be found who will represent you without payment of attorney's fees. You are encouraged to contact Volunteer Lawyers Network as soon as possible after receiving this notice.

You may also obtain bankruptcy related advice through the Bankruptcy Advice Clinic, a free service under which low income Minnesota residents can receive up to 15 minutes of basic information and advice from a bankruptcy attorney. The volunteer attorney can review the complaint, explain laws and procedures, and talk about your legal options. The Clinics are available on a biweekly basis in Minneapolis and St. Paul. For more information and a complete schedule, see www.mnb.uscourts.gov.
